Product description

A used shelf rack with dimensions 3050x400x2500 mm is a type of storage system used for efficient storage of goods. Treated with a hot-dip galvanized zinc coating, which protects the material from corrosion. This makes the storage rack durable and suitable for use in environments where exposure to moisture or other weather conditions are possible. Divided into three sections. This allows for organized storage of different types of goods and easy access to specific items. Each section of the shelf rack has eight shelves. The shelves in the shelf rack are removable and height adjustable. This provides flexibility when storing goods of different sizes. It also makes it easy to clean or adapt the racking to changing storage needs. Suitable for use in various environments, including warehouses, archives, workshops, and stores.
